

Company Culture.

At Elire we strive to promote alternatives with our clients and a balance between work and family for our employees.

Company Culture // Benefits // Current Openings // Become an Elire Employee

What makes Elire a smart career move for you? Unlike many consulting firms, Elire was founded by seasoned professionals from the largest firms in the business. All our founding partners and associates have actually been consultants in a variety of industries. So we know first hand what clients need and how to provide it. It's that breadth of experience that gives us an edge other companies don't have - a greater knowledge base, a more diverse environment and a team where individual strengths and a spirit of collaboration create solutions and rewards!

As a member of the Elire team, your input will always be welcome and your experience always valued. Our culture puts a strong emphasis on teamwork. You have the benefit of all the resources and expert advice you need to be successful, including support from fellow experts.

At Elire, we also feel strongly about promoting the balance between work and family. We understand the demands that travel and long hours put on your family and friends. So we offer perks such as 4-day work weeks or working from home on Fridays. This is part of our generous compensation program which allows you to begin earning variable pay sooner by lowering the minimum work week.

We welcome you to become a member of the Elire team today!