

Business Intelligence.

Elire utilizes industry best practices to properly align your business processes and strategies with performance management solutions.

Treasury // Implementation // Technology // Business Intelligence

Business Intelligence Overview

The Elire Business Intelligence (BI) practice comprises a wide range of skill sets to help companies successfully implement performance management solutions. The Business Intelligence practice supports an organization's decision making process by identifying current and future application requirements so as an organization changes the application can support business requirements. Our consultants utilize Elire's proprietary 'Success Delivered Methodology' to ensure that your business intelligence solution continues to evolve as the knowledge of your business users increases.

Our resources have a thorough understanding of business intelligence solutions to assist you in properly aligning your business processes and strategy with your chosen performance management solutions, enabling you to maximize the return on investment for your performance management solution.

Business Intelligence Integration

The Elire Business Intelligence practice is dedicated and focused on understanding a company's business processes and performance, its products, its employees and its customers. Elire consultants work with clients to plan, analyze, design and identify source data that integrates into business intelligence solutions that enable business users to utilize their data to develop new products, measure customer retention, evaluate new markets, and perform other analytic and corporate governance reporting. Our consultants utilize their in-depth industry knowledge to provide clients with the highest level of satisfaction. The areas referenced below are components of a successful BI solution/implementation.

- Analytical Applications
- Information Feedback
- Data Integration
- Data Marts
- Meta Data Management
- Operations and Administration

Business Intelligence Implementation

Elire consultants will incorporate industry best practices into the project implementation to ensure a successful project delivery. We have a proven track record of implementing and upgrading solutions to support our client's strategic goals. Elire consultants will lead your organization in developing a BI solution that will enable users to easily access information that will assist them in making more informative and effective business decisions.

Whether it's a new implementation, an application upgrade or general maintenance request, our consultants will provide clients with solutions that will help meet their current and future business and technology requirements. Elire consultants have experience with several business intelligence solutions.

